

Seek a Basis For Meeting

JFK, Adenauer Begin Series of Conferences

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy and West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer open a series of policy conferences today in an effort to agree on a basis for Western negotiation with the Soviet Union to settle the Berlin dispute.

Kennedy was reported hopeful that Adenauer would accept a flexible approach, allowing for some concessions by the West, if the Soviet Union is willing to respect "vital interests" of the Western powers in West Berlin.

Communists Strengthen Berlin Wall

Traps, Barriers, Suggest Fear Of Western Invasion

BERLIN (AP) — The Communists today strengthened the wall dividing Berlin with tank traps and barriers as if they were digging to repel an invasion.

Big propaganda signs were tacked up in front of the Brandenburg Gate reading: "Anyone who attacks us will be annihilated."

About 2,000 workers, under the watchful eyes of 2,000 armed guards, labored feverishly during the night erecting massive fortifications that look more and more permanent.

There was little military activity on the Western side of the wall.

Ten U.S. tanks remained about 600 yards from the Friedrichstrasse crossing point. Two armored personnel carriers stood in the street itself, where they have been for a month.

Streetcar tracks were torn up to make tank tracks and the wall was made thicker and higher in a dozen places along its 25-mile length.

At the Brandenburg Gate a double concrete wall went up, each part 3½ to 4 feet thick, about 6½ feet high and only a few inches apart.

At the Potsdamer Platz, once a major crossing point between East and West Berlin, the Communists reinforced the wall with a double row of steel tank barriers. They were shielded by a camouflage net a block long.

Hold Banker, Wife and Son, As Prisoners

GARY, Ind. (AP) — A banker was held prisoner with his wife and son 12 hours before three swarthy gunmen escaped in his car today with about $60,000 loot.

Robert F. Welke, 43, whose bank had already been robbed twice this year, said the bandits got into his house by posing as a policeman with two prowlers in custody.

Welke told the FBI two of the men were in handcuffs when they were brought to the door of his home. The third man posed as a policeman, saying he had caught the pair prowling near the bank and wanted to see whether Welke could identify either.

Once inside Welke's home, the pair shucked their handcuffs.

Welke was told he and his family would be killed if he didn't cooperate in their plan to rob the Glen Park branch of the Gary Trust and Savings Bank.

The banker asked his wife, Betty, not to scream or sound any alarm. He sent their 3-year-old son to bed with a supply of picture books.

The gunmen washed and shaved and talked about plans to go to Argentina, believing they couldn't be extradited from that country.

Around 8 a.m., Welke's wife and son were tied up and left in the home.

Welke was forced to open the night deposit safe. He said the robbers took only cash.

The banker said the main vault time lock wouldn't open until midnight.

As they left, the men bound Welke to a pipe in the bank basement with handcuffs used in their ruse. He broke loose in half an hour and called the FBI.

The West German chancellor arrived here Sunday calling for cooperation among the Allies and predicting victory for "the peace-loving nations" in the cold war.

He told Secretary of State Dean Rusk who met him at Andrews Air Force Base that he is "convinced the peace-loving nations will win."

This is the 85-year-old German leader's second visit since Kennedy took office in January. He was here in April for a get-acquainted meeting. He told Rusk, "My country is firmly on your side."

Rusk described Adenauer as "the dean of the Western world whose judgment is a great asset to the entire Western community." He said the chancellor is "always a most welcome guest."

Adenauer was accompanied by his new foreign minister, Gerhard Schroeder, and by Defense Minister Franz Joseph Strauss. They will serve as advisers and also hold parallel talks with Rusk and Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara.

In advance of the late afternoon White House session, U.S. officials said they were not sure about Adenauer's mood in coming here or just how much flexibility he would display on key issues, but they said he has appeared to be seriously interested in prospects for East-West negotiations on Berlin.

U.S. officials said there were no disagreements between Adenauer and Kennedy on fundamental issues. Both men are agreed that the interests of the West require the continued presence of U.S. and British troops in West Berlin.

They also agree that West Berlin's access routes to West Germany across Communist East Germany must be kept open, and they consider workable ties between West Berlin and West Germany essential to the city's survival.

A Coast Guard Report

Waif Saw 'Blood All Over' Decks of Ill-fated Bluebelle

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Terry Jo Dupperault, 11-year-old waif of the sea, saw "a great deal of blood all over" the decks of the ill-fated ketch Bluebelle the night the vessel sank in the Atlantic, carrying her family to its death, the Coast Guard reported today.

The Green Bay, Wis., girl, recovering in a Miami hospital after rescue from a small raft, told Coast Guard investigators of a terror-filled night.

The Coast Guard called a special news conference to disclose information its investigators got from the girl, sole survivor of seven persons to put to sea on the Bluebelle.

Sunday night, the night of the sinking in the Bahamas, she was awakened by sounds of screaming and running on deck, the Coast Guard investigator quoted her as saying.

According to the report, this was her account:

She recognized the voice of her brother Brian as one of those screaming. She went outside of her room, saw her mother and Brian on the floor of the central cabin, and saw "a great deal of blood all over."

She climbed up to the main

Hits Duval Ouster

Probe Dalton's Uses of Patrol

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — A Republican legislator has asked Atty. Gen. Thomas F. Eagleton to study the legality of Gov. John M. Dalton's action in using the highway patrol to investigate the administration of two St. Louis mental hospitals.

Rep. R. J. King, R-St. Louis County, today released copies of his letters to Eagleton and the governor, along with a statement deploring the ouster last week of Dr. Addison M. Duval as director of the Division of Mental Diseases.

King predicted the forced resignation would "set back our mental health program to the time when it was a happy hunting ground for political hacks and was generally conceded to be one of the worst in the nation."

King said use of the patrol in the case was even more sinister. "Certainly," King wrote Dalton, "No governor should have at his disposal 500 plus people as a private eye agency to act as storm troopers to go around the state, harassing officials not under the political control of the governor, who might have honest differences of opinion with him."

He also called on the governor to release the full report of the patrol's investigation of what the governor has called administrative failures at the St. Louis State Hospital and the St. Louis State Training School.

"Much more is at stake here than Dr. Duval," King said. "What is at stake is whether the governor has a personal police force which he can use to harass and annoy public officials not under his political control with whom he disagrees."

King's letters were dated last Friday but the governor told newsmen he had not yet seen them.

"It has been the custom for 30 years," he said, "that the highway patrol be used to investigate all matters in which there's a state interest."

Dalton said the Menal Health Commission was to meet later today with its nominee to succeed Duval, Dr. George Andrew Ulett, 43, medical director of Malcolm Bliss City Hospital in St. Louis. He told the commission last week he would give his decision on the job within a week.

He said "yes" and jumped overboard and got into the dinghy. She didn't see him any more as he floated away into the darkness. Then she untied the cork raft on top of the cabin and got into the water just as the main deck became awash. She said the mast did not break and she saw or smelled no fire. She heard no shots.

The child spent 3½ days clinging to the raft.

Harvey was rescued but committed suicide last Friday.

Terry Jo lost her parents, Dr. and Mrs. Arthur Dupperault, a sister, Renee, 8; and brother, Brian, 14, in the sinking of the 60-foot ketch.

Harvey, 45, whose wife, Mary, also perished, said a squall dismasted the craft and it sank after fire broke out. He was picked up by a merchant ship. Renee's body was in the dinghy with him.

At Houston, Tex., the crew of the freighter Captain Theo said the sunburned and parched Terry Jo tried to paddle the raft with her hands through circling sharks toward the ship as it stopped to pick her up.

Capt. S. L. Coutsodontis, Greek skipper of the Captain Theo, said the little girl couldn't talk for about 30 minutes.

The youngster's vitality enabled her to wave weakly as a Coast Guard helicopter took her from the Captain Theo to a Miami hospital.

She soon was reading the funnies and writing letters in her hospital room.

Rocky's Son May Be Safe

Governor Takes Off For Tokyo

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller flew toward the far Pacific today to give whatever aide he could to his son Michael, last reported lost off the wild south coast of New Guinea.

The governor's party took off from San Francisco on a Pan American jetliner for Tokyo.

As Rockefeller resumed his hurried, 10,000-mile journey to the far-distant jungle island in the Western Pacific, he had some hope that his son might be safe.

Michael's companion during the New Guinea mishap reportedly has been rescued, Dutch officials reported at the Hague, Netherlands.

And the Dutch also said there was some indication that Michael too would be found safe.

Young Rockefeller was last seen floating on two all purpose military cans that could be used to keep him afloat, his rescued companion reported.

Rescued R. S. Wassink, 34-year-old Dutch official, said he and Michael were forced to abandon their prahu, a native craft made of two canoes joined together.

The two had been on a hunt for primitive art and sculpture along New Guinea's southern coast of swamp and jungle, one of the wildest areas in the world.

Scarbeck's Mistress At US Embassy

WARSAW (AP) — Miss Ursula Maria Discher, Polish mistress of convicted U.S. spy Irvin Scarbeck, turned up at the U.S. Embassy in Warsaw today.

The shapely 22-year-old entertainer told an American reporter she had come back to Poland to stay and had no worries about her future in this Communist country.

Speaking freely about her connection with the Scarbeck espionage case, Miss Discher told an American reporter:

"I was not politically involved in that affair and I see no reason why they (Polish authorities) should be interested in me now."

The star witness at Scarbeck's trial in Washington had changed her platinum blonde hair color to shining black.

Scarbeck, a former second secretary at the U.S. Embassy in Warsaw, was convicted in a U.S. court for espionage and sentenced to 30 years imprisonment.

Miss Discher testified at his trial that Polish secret police agents caught her and Scarbeck in bed together. Scarbeck, who is married, was charged with passing embassy secrets to Polish agents in order to get Miss Discher out of Poland to West Germany.

Crack Down On State Income Tax

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)—M. E. Morris, director of revenue, launched a crackdown today on Missouri employers who are not turning over to the state the income tax payments they have collected from their workers.

Morris said all field men from the income tax division will meet here later today to get instructions for a telephone or personal contact check of employers believed delinquent in turning the money in to the state.

He reported to Gov. John M. Dalton that so far 55,440 employers have made their payments to the state covering the first quarter of the fiscal year which began July 1. It came to $9,056,081.

But Morris figured there are between 70,000 and 80,000 employers in the state who should be handling the income tax collections under the new withholding system. That means thousands of employers are delinquent.

Because of the delinquency, those businessmen will not receive the compensation allowed for collecting the taxes from workers.

Plan To Protest Election

May Delay Philippine Inauguration

MANILA (AP) — A liberal party leader said today that President Carlos P. Garcia plans to protest President-elect Diosdado Macapagal's election in an effort to delay the Liberal candidate's inauguration.

Sen. Ferdinand E. Marcos, the Liberal party president, said Garcia's Nacionalista party, which retained control of both houses of Congress in the election last week, may refuse to proclaim Macapagal president after canvassing the vote next month.

Such a proclamation is required by law, Marcos said, and legally any protest of the returns would have to be made to the Supreme Court after the proclamation by Congress. Normally the new president would be sworn in at the end of December.

No immediate comment was available from Garcia, who conferred with other Nacionalista leaders at the Malacanang presidential palace. Garcia refused Sunday to concede the election and said, "There are grounds for doubting the accuracy of the compilation of election returns."

Liberal party leaders conferred at Marcos' home to devise countermeasures should Garcia try to block Macapagal.

Macapagal was hiding out in Manila after reports of threats to his safety circulated in the city. He and his family left their suburban home for an undisclosed place.

Manila Mayor Arsenio Lacson criticized Garcia for casting doubt on the returns made public by the Commission on Elections.

Independent vice presidential candidate Sergio Osmena Jr., running about 175,000 votes behind Macapagal's running mate, Emmanuel Pelaez, wired his congratulations to Macapagal Sunday night.

"The overwhelming victory of the Filipino people as indicated at the polls is for a change in the administration," said Osmena.

Latest returns from the Election Commission—the vote in 39,320 of the 40,511 precincts—gave Macapagal 3,450,599 votes to 2,805,538 for Garcia.

Trujillo Clan Bows To US

May Have Abandoned A New Dictatorship

CIUDAD TRUJILLO, Dominican Republic (AP)—Bowling to a U.S. show of force and opposition from young Dominican air force generals, the Trujillo clan today appeared to have abandoned an attempt to set up a new dictatorship in this Caribbean republic.

President Joaquin Balaguer, pledged to set the nation on the road to democracy, extended his control as 29 top Trujillo officials slipped out of the country at midnight aboard a chartered airliner.

Two brothers of slain dictator Rafael L. Trujillo led the exodus of the crumbling family dynasty that ruled the country for 31 years virtually as a private plantation.

The two—Gen. Hector Trujillo, a former president, and Gen. Jose Arismendi Trujillo, who had his own army—went originally into exile three weeks ago but returned quietly last week in what the United States charged appeared to be a desperate attempt to seize power.

Gen. Rafael L. Trujillo Jr., son of the former dictator who reportedly was at odds with his uncles, quit as commander-in-chief of the armed forces last week when they came back and sailed away in his yacht.

Balaguer, himself a former front man for the old dictator, still faced the prospect of difficulties with strong opposition party elements in carrying out his pledge to bring democracy to the country.

Some opposition leaders were openly suspicious that the threat from the Trujillo faction was not really over. "The pro-Trujillos are too smart about the entire situation," one said.

Balaguer won pledges of support from the new leaders of the armed forces after warning that squabbling could lead to "foreign military intervention"—a clear allusion to U.S. warships and Marine Corps air units hovering offshore.

Bond Sale More Than Expected

Large Number Of Donations Not Yet In

The bond sale Sunday to help the Crippled Children's Center meet a budget deficit has exceeded $8,500 with a large number of donations yet to be received, it was announced today.

J. D. Walker, director of the center, said the drive had already exceeded expectations of the center's officials and expressed gratitude to contributors.

Some 580 volunteer workers canvassed the residential area Sunday offering bonds representing shares in the rehabilitation of the handicapped youngsters. At 44 per cent of the homes canvassed workers found no one at home, according to Walker.

A previously prepared kit was left at these homes so a contribution could be mailed in. Walker said about 60 of these kits had already been returned and contributions from the kits were averaging $16. "Up to $150 was sent in some of the kits," Walker stated.

Final results of the campaign will probably not be known until Thursday or Friday, Walker indicated.

Although the center's budget totaled $11,000, Walker said it was apparent the campaign would net near that amount and would be successful.

Woman Injured By a Shotgun; Not Serious

Mrs. June Baumgarner, 30, 1714 South Missouri, was accidentally shot in the chest with a .410 shotgun Sunday afternoon.

According to police, the accident occurred when Mrs. Baumgarner took the shotgun from a shelf in a closet at her home. The weapon discharged, striking the woman in the chest. Police said Mrs. Baumgarner and her husband, Thomas Baumgarner, were preparing to go hunting.

After she underwent surgery at Bothwell Hospital Sunday afternoon, her condition was given as not serious. She was treated by Dr. Donald Proctor and admitted for further observation and treatment.

Hospital officials reported her condition was improved Monday morning.

The accident was investigated by police officer Clyde Nicewarner.

Several Cities Have Elections Slated Tuesday

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Several Missouri cities will be voting Tuesday in special elections for city improvements.

Two of them, Springfield and Sedalia, will decide on bond issues for airport improvements.

Before the voters at Springfield is a $600,000 bond issue to be used for a new airport terminal and an air maintenance depot, which would be leased to the Missouri National Guard.

Those at Sedalia will pass on a $200,000 bond issue for airport improvements, including a new runway.

Two proposals will be on the ballot at Hermann. The largest is a $268,000 bond issue for a sewage disposal system. A similar proposal, but $12,000 higher, was defeated by 31 votes last June. The city also will pass on a $30,000 bond issue to buy and prepare a site for International Shoe Co. plant.

Tells of European Trip

Rev. Steinwachs Visits Berlin's 'Wall of Shame'

The Rev. Dr. G. V. Steinwachs, pastor of the Bahner and Spring Fork Catholic Churches, recently returned from a European trip which took him into strife-torn Berlin and both East and West Germany. He found the Berlin situation grim.

Hailing from Uffhausen by Huenfeld, just two miles from the Iron Curtain in West Germany, the reverend has made several trips to his home country for visits with family members who are still living there.

Rev. Steinwachs' trip was made in October.

"On the first morning home the news broke of the forced evacuation of villages on the other side of the Iron Curtain," Rev. Steinwachs said. "A first cousin of my father was among those driven from house and home by the Communists. Nothing is known about her and her family's whereabouts."

"The evacuation took place in the early morning hours," Rev. Steinwachs said, "without any prior notification." "The screams of the people were heard at some places in the villages across the border," he said.

"Little was said in our daily newspapers about this tyranny," the reverend pointed out, "but it moved me to fly into Berlin to see the famous 'Wall of Shame' erected by the Communists."

"Twice I crossed over into East Berlin at checkpoint Charlie—one of the few openings left in the wall that divides the city of Berlin," he said. "The wall is 10 feet and more high, 40 miles long and was put up within 10 days directly under the eyes and guns of the Western occupation forces."

"Sadly the people, East and West, face the fact that East Berlin was allowed to slip completely behind the Iron Curtain," Rev. Steinwachs said.

Rev. Steinwachs is from a family of nine children, three girls and six boys. Of the boys five grew up and all had to fight in a World War—the reverend and his elder brother in the first and the others in the second.

His oldest brother died in action in 1916 on the western front and the youngest brother lost his left hand in 1944 on the eastern front of battle. Rev. Steinwachs' three sisters all entered the religious life and are nuns.

"My oldest sister until a few years ago was stationed behind the Iron Curtain," Rev. Steinwachs said. "At her asking I once sent her a new pair of shoes from the United States, but two Russian soldiers took them forcefully from her feet on the street and chased her away," he said.

The three Steinwachs sisters, together with the reverend's 31 years in the priesthood, have given 165 years of service to the church. The five brothers together spent 21 years in wartime military service, including time two brothers were held as American prisoners of war after World War II.

Six Persons Are Killed On Highways

Six persons were killed in traffic accidents in Missouri during the weekend.

An elderly Lemay, Mo., couple died Sunday in a car that plunged into the River des Peres after crashing through a bridge railing. The dead were Hugo Nitzsche, 65, and his wife Helen, 63. Police said Nitzsche apparently was teaching his wife to drive.

A dentist from Macon, Mo., Dr. Howard Humphrey, was killed Saturday when his car careened into Macon Lake after hitting a bridge.

A St. Louis dentist, Dr. Norman O. Kloepper, 46, was killed Saturday night when a car struck a bridge on U. S. 40-61 near Chesterfield, veered into an embankment and burst into flames. Kloepper was a fullback on the St. Louis University football team in the 1930s.

The driver of the car, Nicholas Messmer, 53, was critically injured. State troopers said his life was saved by two St. Louis area men who pulled him from the flames.

A St. Louis pedestrian, Elmer Davis, 55, was struck and killed early Sunday as he stepped from a curb. The driver was Harold Fischer, 38, also of St. Louis.

John Arthur Maxwell, Jr., 18, Hayti, was killed Saturday when a car overturned in a rain-filled ditch a half mile east of Hayti. Two other men were seriously injured, the driver, Walter Cable, 22, and B. H. Irby, 25.

Missouri Deer Kill Ahead Of Pace Last Year

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP)—The kill in Missouri's gun deer season is running about 400 ahead of last year with two more days of hunting to go.

The pace fell off Sunday with Conservation Commission agents reporting 1,975 deer killed compared with 2,065 on the fifth day a year ago. That brought the total so far to 12,311, or 396 more than last year. Snow fell in much of the state Sunday.

The weekend brought death to one hunter — 75-year-old Elmer Peck of near Salem. His body was found in the woods about 12 miles north of Salem Sunday morning after some 200 volunteers had searched for him.

Dr. Hayden Powell, Dent County coroner, attributed death to a heart attack.

Contest May Arise From Sam's Death

WASHINGTON (AP) — As an aftermath of Speaker Sam Rayburn's death, House Democrats may be caught up in contest over who will become floor leader.

The possibility of a flight was raised Sunday by the disclosure that Rep. Richard Bolling of Missouri will seek the post left open when Rep. John W. McCormack of Massachusetts steps up, as is expected, to the speaker-ship.

While Bolling himself was not available for comment, it was learned on the best authority he will challenge Rep. Carl Albert of Oklahoma for the floor leadership.

Bolling had been the only name mentioned as a likely opponent of McCormack for the speakership. His decision to run for the No. 2 post in the House high command made it almost certain McCormack would succeed Rayburn.

McCormack became acting speaker when cancer forced Rayburn to leave the capitol last August.

Albert was designated acting floor leader by McCormack and his formal election had been taken for granted until Bolling decided to make it a contest. Albert made his own entrance official Sunday night, when he formally announced at his McAlester, Okla., home that he would seek the post.

A caucus of House Democrats will select the new speaker and floor leader shortly before the House reconvenes Jan. 1. Unless Bolling or Albert withdraws before then, the caucus could develop into a knock-down, party-splitting affair that could jeopardize President Kennedy's legislative program, already in trouble in the House.

Bolling, 45, has long been identified with the liberal group in the House, although he calls himself a moderate. He has served since 1949 and is a member of the powerful Rules Committee, where he was Rayburn's chief spokesman.

Albert arrived at the House two years before Bolling and has been party whip—or assistant leader—for the past seven years. He is 53 and calls himself a moderate. Supporting Albert is a strong group of Southerners headed by Rep. Howard W. Smith, D-Va., chairman of the Rules Committee. He also has backing among Northern Democrats.

Bolling's supporters claim the backing of most of the Northern and Western liberals as well as some Southerners.

Freighter Damaged; Jap Ship Goes Down

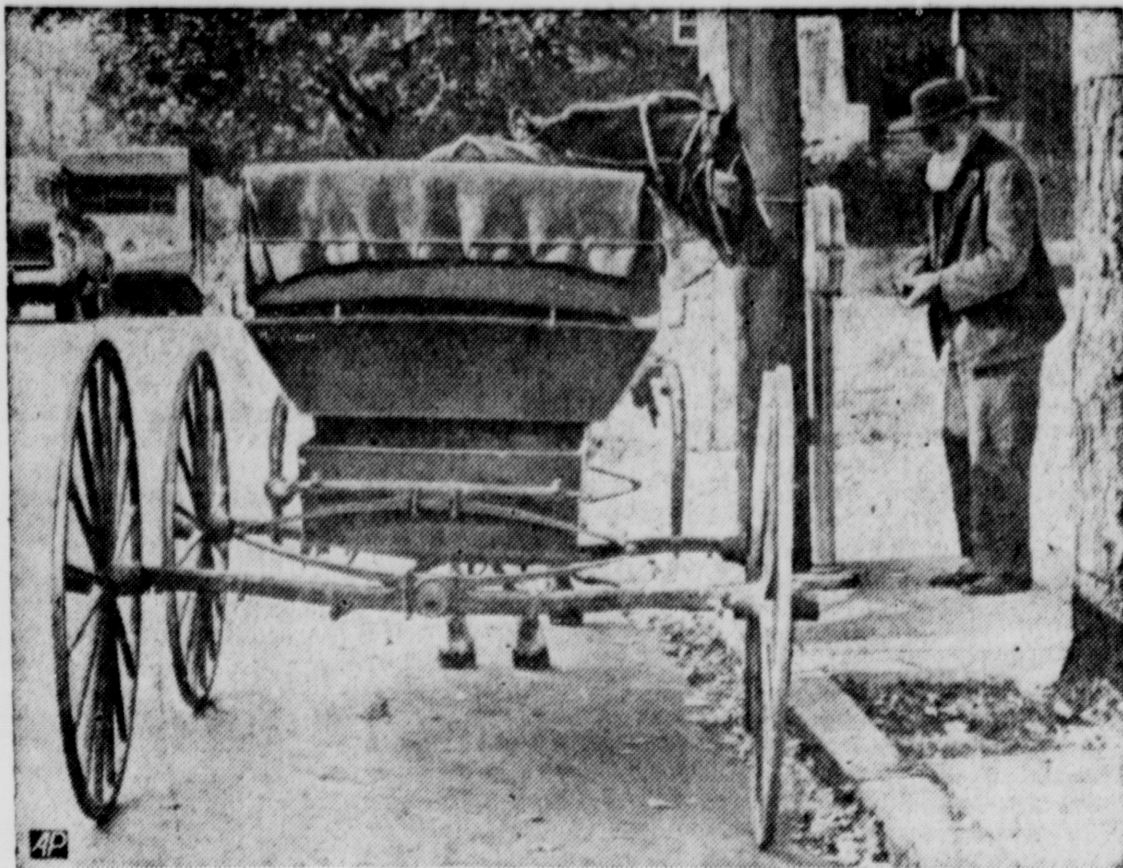

TOKYO (AP) — The American freighter Almeria Lykes was slightly damaged and a Japanese ship sank in a collision Sunday night off southwestern Japan.

Three of the crewmen aboard the Japanese ship, the 3,239-ton Hiyoshi Maru, were missing. Thirty-one others were rescued. No one aboard the 7,855-ton American freighter was hurt.

A communique on the conference here of the three neutralist leaders said the preservation of peace was the basic aim of their foreign policies.

Jolting Quakes In California; No Big Damages

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Earthquakes jolted Los Angeles and Orange Counties today but apparently caused no heavy damage.

The first jolt was felt about 12:54 a.m. in Hollywood, Huntington Park, Long Beach, Norwalk and numerous Orange County communities. It knocked down a ceiling on the second floor of the public safety building in Long Beach and damaged dishes and other breakables in some homes.

Education Director Late for Dedication

DESHLER, Neb. (AP) — Freeman H. Decker, state education department director, was re-faced when he showed up an hour late Sunday to dedicate a $260,000 addition to the junior-senior high school.

Decker said he had the right time and right day, but the wrong town.

He had driven to Exeter, 50 miles distant, to make the speech.

The disturbance lasted about 15 seconds in Long Beach. Another shock was felt in the Los Angeles area about 3:32. It lasted only a second or two.

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, a frequent visitor to Augusta during his terms as president, will make his first public speech here tonight when he addresses the Savannah River area chapter of the Association of the U.S. Army.

The Eisenhowers are vacationing at their cottage at the Augusta National Golf Club.

'Bare Bones' Of TV Play Too Visible

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—If ever the acting magic of Ingrid Bergman and the late Leslie Howard was demonstrated, it was Sunday night when NBC's "Theatre 62" adapted the screen play "Intermezzo" into an hour-long television play.

Without the stars of the original movie, the bare bones of this thin little plot were painfully visible. It was just another story of a self-indulgent man on an extra-marital romp.

Jean Pierre Aumont played the man as overbearing and selfish. Neither beautiful Ingrid Thulin nor Teresa Wright, playing the mistress and the forsaken wife, had much to do except wring their hands.

The most interesting venture of the weekend was Friday night's "Vincent Van Gogh, a self portrait," on NBC. The photography was superb. Often the film camera lingered on a view which the painter had fired on his canvas, and then we saw the painting.

The color was magnificent. But only a tiny fraction could see it—and in Van Gogh's paintings, color is the very essence of his work.

With so many TV shows in trouble because of low ratings, all sorts of efforts are being made to attract public attention to their weekly efforts.

Historically, however, it has

Record Claimed For Stuffing 233 Into Room

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Students at the University of Buffalo claim a record for intercollegiate room-stuffing.

They said 233 students were stacked from the floor to the ceiling of a 17 by 20 foot dormitory room Sunday after the furniture was removed and the windows boarded up.

The Buffalo students said that eclipsed a record of 225 set at the University of Kentucky.

"We could have gotten more in there," said one Buffalo student, "but it was pretty hot and one of the guys started to complain."

been demonstrated that the only way to build up a failing series is by producing better, more interesting shows. This, economically, is impossible for most of the film series because of Hollywood's production line methods and the system of shooting programs so far in advance.

Sometimes, however, a program is in a bad position because it is opposite very strong competition. Last year, a pretty good action-adventure show, "Hong Kong" was killed by strong competition from "Wagon Train." This year, NBC moved its "Bonanza" out of its Saturday night line-up where it ran second to "Perry Mason," and put it into the Sunday schedules. Now the show has shot up to a top spot in the Nielsen ratings—even ahead of its former rival.

Cleo Moore Wed to Builder In Civil Rites

TEANECK, N.J. (AP) — Movie actress Cleo Moore, 32, was married to builder Herb Heftler, 46, Sunday in a civil ceremony performed by Mayor Matthew Feldman.

The wedding was attended by friends and relatives at the home of the bridegroom's brother, George, an attorney. The couple plans to live in Beverly Hills, Calif.

Miss Moore was married at the age of 15 to Palmer Long, son of the late Louisiana politician Huey Long. That marriage ended in divorce after a few weeks.

KENTUCKY STRAIGHT BOURBON

STRAIGHT BOURBON WHISKEY • 86 PROOF
GEO. A. DICKEL DISTILLING CO., LOUISVILLE, KY

About thirty years ago, automotive history was made when a newcomer, Plymouth, first challenged the giants of the industry—with an advertisement that said, "Look at all three."

Today, a similar situation, but in reverse, is making new history as the giants—Ford and Chevrolet—try to challenge another car.

Today, they have each produced a new car trying to challenge Rambler.

The Rambler Classic, for over six years, has been America's only middle-size car—the only compact that has room for six 6-footers in full comfort.

For over six years, Rambler has offered car buyers the best of both—big-car room and performance, with compact-car economy and handling ease.

The overwhelming acceptance of this car by the public has resulted in such a phenomenal success that Rambler now outsells all other cars but the two giants.

It was inevitable, of course, that these two giants would arrive at the Rambler Classic size sometime.

That time is now. Ford has announced its Fairlane, Chevrolet its Chevy II.

So now it is time for the astute car buyer again to "look at all three"—but this time, Chevrolet, Ford and Rambler.

For 1962, Rambler offers two fine cars in the "best-of-both" size.

The chart at the right compares them with the Ford and Chevrolet entries. Even a quick check shows that the Rambler Classic (or Ambassador V-8) offers far more advantages to the buyer than the other two cars.

This, too, is inevitable.

It costs millions and millions of dollars to convert production lines to building cars with unitized construction. Both these competitive cars have had to do that this year. Rambler did it years ago, so our costs have long since been written off—a major reason why we can add so many other features to our cars.

Even more than this—we realize that, as an independent automobile company competing in a market dominated by giants, we must offer an obviously better value in both product and price to exist and succeed. That we are doing so is evidenced by our sales growth.

We also know that our best insurance for success is to share our growth and progress with all who help produce it—our employees and our customers.

Sharing progress with customers is the real key to success. Only by adding more and more improvements—adding more and more value—and making our cars more usable, more comfortable, more trouble-free, more economical to buy and to operate, can we grow.

When you realize that we have added 102 advancements to our 1962 models—and lowered prices on every one of them—you can understand why our sales keep soaring.

Many times I have predicted publicly that the Rambler Classic size eventually would be the new standard-size car in America—and that Ford and Chevrolet would lose their lead unless they produced cars of similar size.

Now they have done that, and you can look at all three: Rambler, Fairlane, and Chevy II.

When you do, I believe you will find Rambler an obviously better value in product and price.

Red Church Admitted To World Group

NEW DELHI, India, (AP) — The Russian Orthodox Church was admitted today to the World Council of Churches amid misgivings and considerable acclaim.

The step came as believers of nearly every kind and culture began the most widely inclusive Christian convocation of the modern era.

Outside the meeting place at the Vignay Bhawan Temple of Learning a picket carried a sign reading "Russian clergy are Communist agents, not servants of God."

But among church envoys here for the council's third general assembly, vigorous applause greeted the action seating the 16-man Russian Church delegation.

Each member denomination — 175 Protestant, Orthodox, Anglican and Old Catholic bodies — was entitled to one vote. Two U.S. churches abstained — the Russian Orthodox Church in America and the Hungarian Reformed Church in America.

The Rt. Rev. Zoltan Beky of Trenton, N.J., bishop of the Hungarian Church, voiced the fear Russian churchmen would use the council "as a platform for political purposes."

Other churchmen from East and West said the entry of the Russian Church broadened the scope of the Christian unity movement and gave ancient Eastern denominations full representation in it.

Twenty-two other church bodies were admitted, including the Bulgarian, Romanian and Polish Orthodox churches and two Chilean Pentecostal churches, the first Pentecostal groups to join the council.

The additions bring the council to 198 denominations with more than 300 million members in about 60 countries.

With the exception of the Roman Catholic Church, every major confession is now "strongly represented," said Dr. W. A. Visser T'Hooft, the council general secretary.

Never before, he said, has a "greater variety of expressions of the Christian faith been brought together in one movement."

The Russian Church has a membership estimated from 30 to 90 million in a population of 250 million people.

Admission of the Russian Church culminated more than 10 years of negotiation. Dr. Visser T'Hooft said council leaders became convinced that participation of the Russian Church would serve "the cause of Christ."

Ann Landers Answers Your Problems

Dear Readers: You've done it again! I mean knocked me for a loop with your overwhelming response to a simple request. I was astonished (and delighted) by the numbers of readers who took the time and trouble to help a stranger.

Recently a reader who signed herself "Harriett" wrote to inquire about a flower. She thought it was called "the nicotine plant." Her mother loved this flower and planted it around her home. Harriett had been searching for it for many years, without success: "Perhaps it is known by another name," she wrote. "Maybe one of your readers knows of it and can help me."

I replied to Harriett: "I don't know a hantock from a hollyhock. But front and center, Flower Lovers — give Harriett a hand."

Within hours I received a 34-word telegram from Vallejo, California. "The plant Harriett is looking for is called Nicotiana," wired Mrs. R. G.

Then the avalanche of mail descended. There were more than two thousand postmarks, ranging from San Juan, Puerto Rico, to Honolulu. A reader from Scarborough, Ontario, cut one of the flowers from her garden, pressed it and sent it to me. A Tampa reader who signed himself "Garden Nut" air-specified two packages of seeds. "Flower-Lover" from Stamford, Connecticut, offered to send Harriett, prepaid air-freight, a box of the flowers she had been searching for.

I now have in my possession seed catalogues from Salem, Oregon; Clinton, Iowa; Monroe, Louisiana; Rochester, N. Y.; Austin, Minnesota; Philadelphia and Mexico, Missouri.

The mail continues to be fascinating, enlightening and entertaining. See for yourselves:

From Princess Anne, Md.: "Harriett is looking for Nicotiana or Flowering Tobacco. These are sweet-scented annuals named for John Nicot who introduced tobacco to the French Court."

From Kansas City: "Sounds like the old Four-O'Clock to me."

GOLD UMBER CO.

They bloom at dusk and smell wonderful."

From Portland, Maine: "We call it Jasmine Tobacco out here."

Colorado Springs: "She's undoubtedly looking for Angel's Trumpets."

Kalamazoo, Mich.: "It's Nicotiana, of course. This flower re-seeds itself and unlike many annuals, comes back true to its parent."

La Crosse, Wis.: "We call them Evening Stars in Wisconsin."

Marion, Ohio: "The name is Shoo Fly Plant."

Grand Forks, N. D.: "Tell the lady to write to any nursery and ask for 'Evening Scented Stock'."

Chicago: "I wish Harriett would come and get mine. They grow like weeds around my house and the sweet smell makes me sick to my stomach."

San Bernardino, Calif.: "We call it the Humming Bird Plant. The sweet aroma attracts flocks of 'em."

Louisville, Ky.: "I'm sure it's the Moonflower she wants."

PUP-PET — Marionette, owned by Marion Ross of New York, nuzzles puppy mascot Sally at horse shows.

Enid, Oklahoma: "The name is Nicotina White Bedder. In our part of the country they do best in boxes."

Billings, Montana: "I know if you wrote this column long enough you'd flip your wig. When you start thinking you're the garden editor you've had it, Kid."

crease in total milk production may be seen in 1962.

The price received by farmers in September, for all wholesale milk, rose seasonally to $4.35 per cwt. This is 18 cents higher than in August, but seven cents less than September a year ago. This is the first month in 1961 that the all milk price has been below the 1960 level.

Manufactured milk prices, adjusted for fat test, will likely average close to the current support level of $3.40 per cwt., or about the same as in 1960.

Ann Landers Answers Your Problems

Dear Readers: You've done it again! I mean knocked me for a loop with your overwhelming response to a simple request. I was astonished (and delighted) by the numbers of readers who took the time and trouble to help a stranger.

Recently a reader who signed herself "Harriett" wrote to inquire about a flower. She thought it was called "the nicotine plant." Her mother loved this flower and planted it around her home. Harriett had been searching for it for many years, without success. "Perhaps it is known by another name," she wrote. "Maybe one of your readers knows of it and can help me."

I replied to Harriett: "I don't know a hammock from a hollyhock. But front and center, Flower Lovers — give Harriett a hand."

Within hours I received a 34-word telegram from Vallejo, California. "The plant Harriett is looking for is called Nicotiana," wired Mrs. R. G.

Then the avalanche of mail descended. There were more than two thousand postmarks, ranging from San Juan, Puerto Rico, to Honolulu. A reader from Scarborough, Ontario, cut one of the flowers from her garden, pressed it and sent it to me. A Tampa reader who signed himself "Garden Nut" air-specified two packages of seeds. "Flower-Lover" from Stamford, Connecticut, offered to send Harriett, prepaid air-freight, a box of the flowers she had been searching for.

I now have in my possession seed catalogues from Salem, Oregon; Clinton, Iowa; Monroe, Louisiana; Rochester, N. Y.; Austin, Minnesota; Philadelphia and Mexico, Missouri.

The mail continues to be fascinating, enlightening and entertaining. See for yourselves:

From Princess Anne, Md. "Harriett is looking for Nicotiana or Flowering Tobacco. These are sweet-scented annuals named for John Nicot who introduced tobacco to the French Court."

From Kansas City: "Sounds like the old Four-O'Clock to me."

They bloom at dusk and smell wonderful."

From Portland, Maine: "We call it Jasmine Tobacco out here."

Colorado Springs: "She's undoubtedly looking for Angel's Trumpets."

Kalamazoo, Mich.: "It's Nicotiana, of course. This flower re-seeds itself and unlike many annuals, comes back true to its parent."

La Crosse, Wis.: "We call them Evening Stars in Wisconsin." Marion, Ohio: "The name is Shoo Fly Plant."

Grand Forks, N. D.: "Tell the lady to write to any nursery and ask for 'Evening Scented Stock'."

Chicago: "I wish Harriett would come and get mine. They grow like weeds around my house and the sweet smell makes me sick to my stomach."

San Bernardino, Calif.: "We call it the Humming Bird Plant. The sweet aroma attracts flocks of 'em."

Louisville, Ky.: "I'm sure it's the Moonflower she wants."

PUP-PET — Marionette, owned by Marion Ross of New York, nuzzles puppy mascot Sally at horse shows.

Enid, Oklahoma: "The name is Nicotina White Bedder. In our part of the country they do best in boxes."

Billings, Montana: "I know if you wrote this column long enough you'd flip your wig. When you start thinking you're the garden editor you've had it, Kid."

Crowd Waits For Look At Lucy, Hubby

NEW YORK (AP)—Married in a simple church ceremony with a roaring crowd in the cold street outside, flame-tressed Lucille Ball is keeping up her television schedule here while comedian Gary Morton starts a night club engagement in Palm Springs, Calif.

There'll be a January honeymoon in Acapulco, Mex., for the couple whose romance started on a blind date in a pizza palace here.

After that, home will be a big house in Beverly Hills, Calif.

Lucy, divorced wife of Desi Arnaz, and Morton, son of a Bronx truckman, were married Sunday at the Marble Collegiate church by the Rev. Dr. Norman Vincent Peale.

A crowd of 1,500 jammed the sidewalks near the 29th Street side entrance of the church. Ten policemen kept the crowd in check.

A roar went up as the bride—wearing a cocktail-length gown and tulle veiled cap of brilliant teal blue—emerged from the church.

Among the first out of the church and into waiting cars were the two children of Lucy's 20-year marriage to Arnaz—Lucie, 10, and Desi, 8. The youngsters waved in greeting to the crowd.

Among the 40 relatives and close friends of the couple invited to the wedding and to a reception later at the bride's apartment were Lucy's mother, Desiree Ball, and the bridegroom's mother, Rose Morton. Mrs. Ball had brought the children here from California.

The maid of honor was actress Paula Stewart, who had introduced the couple in the summer of 1960 while she and Lucy were appearing in "Wildcat."

The best man was Miss Stewart's husband, comedian Jack Carter.

Lucy gave her age as 50 when the marriage license was obtained. Morton, whose marriage to Jacqueline Inmoor was annulled in 1957, gave his age as 44.

2 Boys Killed In Separate Gun Accidents

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Two boys were shot to death in separate accidents Sunday.

Stephen Marshall, 17, of Prairie Village, Kan., was shot through the head with 45.70 caliber frontier model Army rifle held by Joseph Alfonso Fernandez, 18.

They were inspecting a gun collection owned by Fernandez, who said he didn't know the rifle was loaded.

Darrell Medlock, 10, Kansas City, was shot in the head with a .22-caliber rifle while sitting in a car with his brother near Lee's Summit, Mo. The rifle was held by Dale Medlock, 12.

The boys, hunting rabbits with their father and a friend, got tired and went to the car to rest. Dale said he didn't know the rifle was loaded.

$1,000 Is Donated To Aid Lisa Schuh

WICHITA (AP)—The fund set up for medical expenses of a 13-year-old girl has received a $1,000 check from Azotus White Shrine of Jerusalem, Joplin, Mo.

The fund is for Lisa Schuh, who was beaten and raped in Joplin last July while visiting her grandmother. Her attacker, Charles Harvey Odom, was convicted by a jury which recommended the death penalty.

Transport Wreckage Found In Tanganyika

ROME (AP)—Wreckage of an Italian air force transport missing on a U.N. Congo mission was sighted today in Tanganyika, and the Italian government announced six Italian Airmen survived the crash.

The C119 disappeared Friday on a flight from Entebbe, Uganda, to Leopoldville with eight Italian crewmen and two U.N. civilian employees aboard.

Seek to Up Status Of Pool Rooms

NEW YORK (AP)—Tough kid, leather jacket, fag drooping from lower lip, slouched against light pole. Flips the butt into a gutter. Goes back into the dingy pool room, full of shady, shifty characters.

Familiar picture? Well, destroy it. The newly formed Billiard Room Proprietors Association of America (BRPAA) says it's all wrong.

One big job of the association, in the words of an announcement, is to secure "greater stature and public acceptance for the sport of billiards and to assist materially in the 'upgrading' and establishment of better billiard rooms throughout the country."

They even hope to attract more women to the game.

The proprietors, perhaps, don't dream of going so far as the 1635 cut in Francis Quarles' "Emblems" showing two angels shooting the 17th century equivalent of a fast game of snooker. But they do want to wipe out what they believe is a grossly erroneous image in the public's mind.

Mary, queen of Scots, is reported to have complained in captivity in 1576 that her billiard table had been taken away from her.

An illustration shows France's Louis XIV playing a game in 1694.

Shakespeare even has Cleopatra telling an attendant: Let's go shoot a game of pool. (But Charmian, the attendant, complained of a sore arm.)

Until the 1890s, says Association President Bob McGirr of New York, billiards was a "class game." Then the country was flooded with billiard parlors and the game went downhill—at least he says, in the public mind.

As Webster's dictionary explains it, there are two main types of billiards—a game of American-French origin which is played on a table having no holes, and a game of English origin

Radioactivity Has Doubled at Caracas

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP)—Radioactivity in the atmosphere over Caracas has more than doubled in three days, the government institute of scientific investigation said Sunday.

Spokesmen for the institute said they assumed the increase is a result of the recent Soviet series of nuclear test blasts.

Dockers Union Head Slain In Algeria

ALGIERS, Algeria (AP)—Belkacem Lachlach, 49, president of the Dockers Union of Algiers, was killed by submachinegun fire while driving to work Saturday authorities reported Sunday. The assailants escaped.

Lachlach was one of at least 12 persons killed in an upsurge of terrorism and violence in Algeria during the weekend.

played on a table having six holes.

McGirr, who has operated a billiards parlor for 27 years and now does a steady business at his 21-table, $125,000 establishment at 8th Avenue and 45th Street, says billiards is enjoying a rebirth of popularity. He says over 12 million Americans are playing billiards regular at the 40,000 rooms in the nation.

The game got a boost, he says, from a news picture photograph of Queen Mother Elizabeth of England wielding a cue in London and a similar shot of Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York in action.

Details of the agreement were not disclosed.

Survives Trip; Then Gets Lost

POINT ARGUELLO, Calif. (AP)—A capsule of living matter apparently survived a rocket flight more than 1,000 miles—then got lost at sea.

A four-stage rocket carried the BIOS capsule aloft Saturday. Its living cargo—blood, nerve fiber, mold, bacteria, barley seed, sea urchin eggs—was to be recovered and tested by scientists to determine the effects of outer-space radiation and gravity changes.

The rocket apparently veered off course and the capsule parachuted far out of the planned impact area south of here.

After several hours of searching the Navy gave up.

Rejection Rates Too High

If the proportion of young Americans turned down at military induction centers is a proper criterion—and it would seem to be—then President Kennedy's physical fitness program has a long way to go.

The other day a report from a small eastern state indicated rejection rates there are running as high as 60 per cent. The national average does not match that, but it is staying close to the shocking 51 per cent rate which prevailed for the full year 1960.

The idea that one of every two young men called in the draft will prove unfit physically or mentally to serve in the armed forces should stagger the whole citizenry of a country that prides itself as the United States does on its national vigor.

What do these truly incomprehensible figures mean?

For one thing, they do not reflect any stiffening of physical test standards. On the contrary, those standards have been eased since World War II. But the heavy rejections go on apace. In 1960 a fourth of all draftees were disqualified for medical cause.

On the mental tests there has been some toughening, but the change is more illusory than real.

Since 1958 the induction centers have been giving supplemental tests to draftees in the next to lowest mental test categories, eliminating many more who lack aptitude for military tasks. But in earlier years the services were simply saddled with these ill-equipped men.

Altogether, nearly 22 per cent of all draftees in 1960 failed to meet mental standards. The present year follows pattern.

A good many high school graduates fail the basic armed forces qualification test, which surely must suggest something about the caliber of some of our schools. There have been failures among those with some college level training.

Should anyone imagine the basic test is too difficult, note that it deals with such fundamentals as the meaning of words, arithmetic reasoning, mechanical ability, and spatial relationships. And quite low scores are taken as acceptable.

The harsh truth is that, whatever this great and rich nation is turning out in the way of missiles, jet aircraft, automobiles, television sets and the like, it appears to fall far short of producing a sufficient number of young men of even ordinary mental and physical attainment.

This is a severe indictment to let stand as long in a country of such high aspirations as ours.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Faces Certain Party Blackball

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—It may take some time for the entire story of Vyacheslav M. Molotov and his dramatic return to Moscow to leak to the outside world. He did not have to return. No Russian security guards accompanied him on the train. He and his wife were alone. And any number of Western capitals would have been delighted to give him refuge—even including Washington.

Yet the man who for years carried out Soviet foreign policy under Stalin went home to face certain expulsion from the Communist party.

The story that the West needs to know more than anything else—a story which could change the course of history—is whether this rift inside the Communist world gives the United States an opening. Does the exit of Red China from the recent party congress on the same issue as the demotion of Molotov—the inevitability of war—mean that a friendlier Khrushchev wants friendlier relations with the West? Does he have more reason to fear the Red Chinese in the long run than the USA?

These are not easy questions to answer. Correct answers, however, are vital to an intelligent U.S. foreign policy, and here is some disquieting history about the dour and disagreeable Molotov who last week returned to Moscow.

Mule Driver Lecture

He first hit the headlines in the USA a few days after President Roosevelt died in April, 1945. The war was not yet over. Molotov flew to Washington to present his condolences and pay his respects to President Truman. Then he went on to the United Nations in San Francisco.

The public never knew it, but, when he called on Truman, the new president gave him the bawling out of his life. Chip Bohlen, who acted as interpreter, later told Secretary of State Jimmie Byrnes that he had never heard anyone in high public office lectured the way Truman lectured Molotov.

Reason was Poland and the manner in which Stalin, even before the end of the war, had started to take over Poland without giving the Polish government in exile in London a chance to participate.

This was the beginning of the Stalin policy of sending Russian troops into the satellite countries and annexing them, in effect, to Moscow.

Molotov went on to San Francisco, held a press conference, acted just as uncooperative toward his Western allies—then still fighting side-by-side—as he has acted toward Khrushchev of late.

I saw him a year later in Paris when he was bucking Jimmy Byrnes at the Paris peace conference. Byrnes proposed plan after plan to get the world back on a peaceful course; Molotov ducked, boycotted, or sabotaged.

On the 4th of July, he went through the motions of a call at the American embassy to pay his respects on Independence Day. Possibly he tried to look pleasant, but he seemed as glum and disagreeable as if plotting to overthrow the United States next day.

Cowboy Molotov

Some years later, when the "new look" was being adopted in Moscow, Molotov came to the USA, picked up a Texas cowboy hat, and wore it down the Chicago lake front. He was trying hard to be pleasant. It wasn't in him.

Surface appearances, of course, are unimportant. But Molotov couldn't help acting his real self.

And the important thing to remember about him, as far as the United States is concerned, is that he backed up Stalin's heavy-handed, program 100 per cent.

Khrushchev told me last summer about Molotov's demand that Russia continue its military occupation of Austria and its military base in Finland. Also how Molotov wanted to continue Stalin's economic restrictions over the satellites, and how he, Khrushchev, removed all this.

Here, history supports him. Red army troops have been withdrawn from all the satellites except Hungary, economic restrictions have been removed, Poland has been given such relative freedom under Khrushchev that it's unrecognizable under Stalin's Day.

Stalin and Molotov would never have permitted Poland to get wheat from the USA. They forbade every satellite from participating in the Marshall Plan. No citizens of the satellites could travel abroad. The Iron Curtain had no loopholes. Now Polish musicians and dancers, Czech orchestras, other cultural missions and businessmen freely visit the United States.

This is the Khrushchev policy of coexistence as compared with the Molotov policy of the inevitability of war which he repeated only a few days before the recent party Congress. He expressed his belief that "without serious conflict, without war, advance toward communism is impossible" in the course of throwing harpoons into Khrushchev's 20-year plan for improving Russian living standards. He has always argued that these should be made secondary to Communist doctrine, and this was another reason why he got the ax.

The Red Chinese stand by the same theory, have publicly said they are the only nation that can profit from atomic war, because 200 to 300 million of their population would survive.

This is part of Molotov's long record. You have to scrutinize it to understand the changes that have taken place under Khrushchev, and why some Kennedy advisers believe Khrushchev needs Kennedy more than Kennedy needs him.

Competition in Kansas

There are two ex-presidential libraries near each other. The Truman Library is in Independence, Mo., and the Eisenhower one is in Abilene, Kansas.

The Abilene Library is asking for funds. Originally the goal was set at three million dollars as a tacit move to out do the Truman Library, one hundred sixty miles away. The construction cost of the latter was one million, seven hundred and fifty dollars.

The Kansas legislature added two hundred twenty five thousand dollars to the original amount of over two million raised by Eisenhower admirers, but that was used for landscaping and additional ground. A quiet campaign headed by Benjamin F. Fairless, retired president of United States Steel Company, is going on to raise two hundred fifty thousand immediately.

Almost every week, new papers representing current history are arriving in Abilene from the Eisenhower farm in Gettysburg.

Both the Truman and Franklin D. Roosevelt Libraries are combined with museums, but the Eisenhower Museum in Abilene is operated by the Eisenhower Foundation, a private group.

Friends of Truman aided the construction of his library, and friends of Eisenhower are doing the same for him.

Stop, Read, Heed

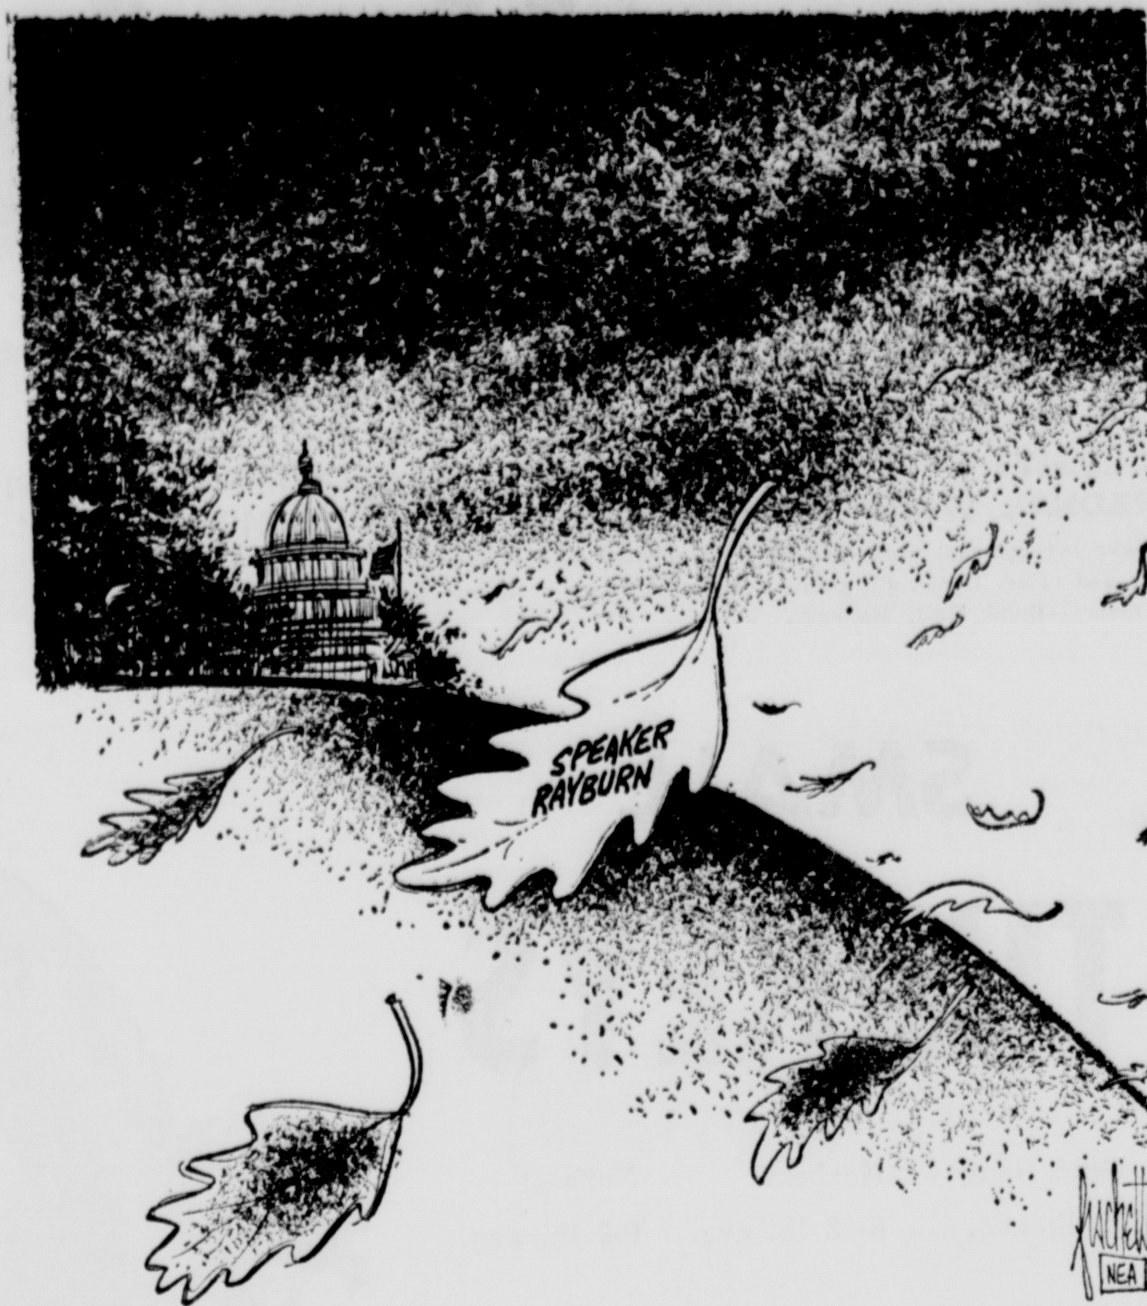

Many of us probably feel some annoyance when we suddenly find ourselves caught behind a school bus or truck stopping at a railroad crossing. We should be happy they do.

The National Safety Council passes on word from a committee devoted to grade crossing safety problems, to the effect that far too many drivers of school buses and trucks bearing explosive or inflammable materials are failing to halt at rail crossings as the law requires.

Train-vehicle collisions annually kill 1,300 people, disable 3,500 more, and cause losses in the millions. Private cars account for three-fourths of these collisions, but it is shocking that any buses or trucks—operating under order to halt at the tracks—should be involved.

The council's drive to reduce these deaths and losses deserves the fullest support from both the private and the professional driver.

Chancellor Adenauer On Way Out

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON — (AP) — An old man, who for 12 years nursed an idea which now seems as forlorn as the last leaf the wind has forgotten, today began another round in a career which is coming to a close.

At 85, West Germany's Chancellor Adenauer is the oldest head of a major government. He came here to talk with President Kennedy about Berlin, the Russians, and East Germany. What he has in mind isn't clear at all at this point.

He is still vigorous but he is on his way out. An Associated Press report from Bonn this month talked of German "resentment" that has built up over the years to his authoritarian ways.

It was demonstrated last September when in West Germany's elections his Christian Democratic party failed to win a majority in Parliament. He had to seek the support of the Free Democrats in order to get re-elected chancellor once more.

After seven weeks of haggling, the Free Democrats exacted a price. They were willing to put up with him but not indefinitely. On Nov. 8 he gave them a written guarantee he would retire before his term's end in 1965. It may be in 1963.

It is against this background that he is here—a leader whose days are numbered—to discuss with Kennedy solutions which will affect the future of Europe and therefore the Western alliance against communism.

Under his leadership, but with large American help, his country has risen from devastation to a soaring prosperity which 12 years ago might have seemed unbelievable. But his vision was broader than Germany.

He led his country into the Western Alliance. Through his relations with French President Charles de Gaulle he has sought to dry up the ancient German-French enmity.

He took his country into the European common market, which may do more for the prosperity of that area than any single act in history.

The result may be a Western Europe so powerful and united that it will be truly a third world force—no longer looking to this country for protection or leadership—which will be a balance between the United States and Russia.

These are tremendous achievements and prospects, so much so that the growing strength of West Germany gave Premier Khrushchev added incentive for wishing the Western Alliance dissolved.

By demanding the Allies get out of West Berlin, Khrushchev has challenged West Germany.

Unless some understanding is reached with him by the Allies, West Berlin may slowly be shut off from the West even though its links are with West Germany. Adenauer hasn't produced any solutions to meet or offset Khrushchev's tactics.

While the United States and Britain have shown inclination to negotiate with the Russians, Adenauer and De Gaulle have been reluctant to do anything but stand stiff.

Thus, out of the Kennedy-Adenauer talks may come the beginning of an agreed policy. But it is at this point that Adenauer seems to have nothing clear in mind and even sounds confused.

For example, he said the wall which the East German Communists erected between West and East Berlin must come down as a condition for settlement. But his new foreign minister, Gerhard Schroeder, thought it necessary to tone this down.

He said the wall must come down but added: "We must be careful not to set up pre-conditions that are actually ultimatums." He said West Germany would not insist the wall must come down before the start of East-West talks.

For 12 years Adenauer has kept alive the idea that East and West Germany must be reunited. This country backed him up on that. It was never realistic because Khrushchev would not permit a new, unified Germany, particularly if it allied itself with the West.

So, while this country may still help Adenauer keep his dream alive by saying it will not recognize the East German Communists as the real government of East Germany, it is not likely to waste much time talking unification.

Adenauer will almost certainly not see a united Germany. It remains an old man's dream.

Matter of Fact

The lemming, a mouse-like animal of Scandinavia, has the same troubles as the "woman who lived in a shoe." Lemmings have so many youngsters they "don't know what to do." Every few years lemming colonies get overpopulated. Starvation forces the little animals to leave home. Nothing stops their desperate march, not even the ocean. They jump right in, to their death—victims of their own "population explosion."

Federal Program Better Water Pollution Picture

A federal program of grants to cities and sewer districts for constructing sewage treatment works is having a significant impact in Missouri, according to Jack K. Smith, executive secretary of the Missouri Water Pollution Board. Smith estimates that about half of a 100 per cent increase in total projects in the past five years has been due to federal help.

Since the program began in 1956, Missouri has received from the federal government about $1,060,000 a year.

Until recently cities or sewer districts could get as much as $250,000 toward the costs of a treatment works, or 30 per cent, whichever amount was the smallest. The past session of Congress boosted the maximum to $600,000. Congress also increased the total amount of money available to Missouri for the program.

Smith says that by the end of the current fiscal year some 115 cities or sewer districts will have received federal grants for treatment works totaling some six million dollars. The grants will have ranged from a little more than $4,000 to the maximum of $250,000.

Most of the projects have been in Missouri's smaller cities. However, Smith expects a result of the boost in maximum grants available to encourage the bigger cities in their projects.

"We probably will have fewer projects in years ahead, but more expensive ones," he says.

In effect, the years ahead will see the state's larger cities using up the federal aid while in the past it has been the smaller cities.

Role of the state Water Pollution Board in the federal program has been to determine priorities among applicants for aid. Up to now, Smith says, the Board has operated on a "first come, first served" basis which he says has worked out well. Applicants must have money available and be ready to go.

With larger projects expected in years ahead, Smith says determination of priorities will have to be made with a somewhat more complex method.

Smith notes that since the program was started, total eligible costs of treatment works projects has been more than 23 million dollars. The cost does not include the collection system which would push total investment Missouri cities and sewer districts have made in recent years considerably higher.

Smith also points out that Missouri ranks fourth among all states in the number of projects approved for federal grants and sixth in number of projects completed. Projects have been completed in all areas of the state with a good deal of attention given to pollution abatement programs on the Missouri and Mississippi rivers.

Missouri policy, as defined by law, is "to act in the public interest to restore and maintain a reasonable degree of purity in the waters of the state, and to require, where necessary, reasonable treatment of sewage, industrial wastes, and other wastes prior to their discharge into the waters of the state."

State Finds Many Owning Income Tax

Attorney General Thomas F. Eagleton reports a "surprising number of people" owing the state income tax from years past.

Delinquent returns certified from the Department of Revenue to the Attorney General for the first 10 months of this year have exceeded the number certified for all of last year.

Attorney General Eagleton says 32,000 cases have come to his office thus far. Some 30,000 were reported handled last year.

The cases this year date back as far as 1957.

Total amount collected so far this year in back-due income tax is $434,797.25.

Most taxpayers when confronted with the tax owed pay up. Only 1,000 cases have gone to court so far this year.

The certifications largely are a result of a state program for checking federal records.

Accidents Always Can Be Worse

Accidents perhaps always can be worse.

Recently a crew was dynamiting a hole through a stone wall off Highway 63 at LaPlata.

Though a fence guard had been erected to keep debris from the highway, the first blast sent a piece of stone skyrocketing into the air and down through the windshield of a passing car.

The driver maintained control and brought the car to a halt.

The accident was bad enough but it seemed worse as the occupants of the car alighted. They were two Highway Patrol officers!

Tigers Turned Loose

Unseasonable Offensive Against Nelson Rockefeller

By Robert E. Hennessee
DP&R Special Service

NEW YORK — President Kennedy has turned the tigers loose on New York's popular Governor Nelson Rockefeller, in an unseasonable offensive to keep him out of the White House.

Reports have circulated in Washington and New York for the past several months that the Kennedy administration was soon to go after Rockefeller with no holds barred.

The first part of "Operation Rockefeller" came this week from Democratic National Chairman John M. Bailey, who struck on the congressional redistricting issue. Bailey asserted:

"We consider this assault on equal opportunity an example of political larceny in the robber-baron tradition.

"Your granddad would have been proud of you, Nelson."

Rockefeller's state legislature had just done the Democrats out of six congressional seats, depriving Democratic Manhattan alone of half of its six House posts.

Chairman Bailey, who admitted he worked out his statement with "some members of the White House staff," vowed to send what he termed a complete factual report on the redistricting "to all the voters of the state of New York." To do this would require about five million pieces of mail.

Of all Republicans, Governor Rockefeller is the one President Kennedy would least like to have as his opponent in 1964.

The President has not forgotten, as some Republicans may have, how Rockefeller not only upset but thoroughly trounced incumbent Governor Averill Harriman in 1950, when the Democrats were otherwise scoring one of their greatest election victories across the country.

It is no secret that the President's favorite candidate for the Republican nomination three years hence is Senator Barry Goldwater of Arizona, who is Rockefeller's chief opponent for the nomination at this stage.

Democratic attacks on Rockefeller can be expected to continue until he either fails to win the Republican nomination or moves into the White House.

Swine Disease Seminar
Tuesday, Nov. 28

We are getting a lot of comments on the Swine Disease Seminar set for Tuesday, Nov. 28. One of the problems is an accurate count of the number that will attend.

We have sent a letter to approximately 10 hog producers in each township. On those letters was a tearoff slip to mail back in indication that you were planning to attend. Of course the meeting is open to the public, but we would very much appreciate anyone planning to attend letting us know so that we could check with the cooks at the restaurant.

The Swine Development committee does plan to sell tickets at the door. That way we can eat dinner right there and proceed with the meeting as soon as the meal is completed. Of course the menu will be ham.

The topics we will be discussing again include: (1) Scours and T.G.E., (2) Sanitation, Necro and Rhinitis, (3) Swine Flu and Pneumonia and (4) S.P.F. pigs. Present plans are for the two veterinarians to talk in the morning and then spend the rest of the morning answering questions.

We will have a moderator and the first questions will be regarding the diseases discussed. Any time left over can be devoted to questions on other diseases not covered. The same procedure will be followed in the afternoon.

As we told you last week the veterinarians assisting will include Drs. Gouge, Goodnight, Monsees and Linsenhardt.

Agent Attends Veterinary Meeting

My wife and I had the opportunity last Tuesday night to attend a dinner meeting of veterinarians and their wives and county agents and their wives at Boonville.

The move was initiated by the veterinarians in an effort to get better acquainted with their county agents and vice versa. The speaker was R. B. Baker, state extension agent for the South Central District of Missouri.

A special program was provided for the wives. In the men's session Baker asked the veterinarians and agents from each county to get together and give a report on two questions.

One of these questions was the most effective thing that the two groups had worked together on in 1961 and the second, the most important thing they expected to work on together in 1962.

Of course one of the important things right now to both groups in Pettis County is getting the County recertified for brucellosis. Our present three-year certification runs out with the end of 1961.

Young Couple Enrollments
Enrollment cards have been sent to approximately 300 young farm couples over Pettis County. Classes will be held one evening a week during January.

Enrollment cards are due back to the Extension office by the end of this week so that a committee may make plans for the number of meeting places needed.

Young couples who are interested but did not receive cards are invited to call the Extension office.

A.S.C. Wants Encourages Water Management Practices

Two members of the County A.S.C. committee, Sam Hieronymus and Bob Rissler, sat in at a planning meeting Thursday night regarding boosting terracing and other water management work in Pettis County in 1962. Others attending were two contractors, Tony Westermier and Ralph Dove and A.S.C. program man, Erwin Rumpf.

More water management work was done in Pettis County in 1961 than had been done in any recent previous year. The County A.S.C. committee wants to see that move continued and are interested in doing all they can to assist.

They are interested in permanent practices like water management and feel that they will be of more value to the county than more temporary ones like lime and rock phosphate. Because of that if a farm needs terracing, they will make a larger allocation for the same size farm for water management and other permanent practices than more temporary practices as pasture, etc.

One of the important things is that farmers interested in water management practices should be sure to sign up for A.S.C. during the month of December. Of course when you sign up you should indicate whether you wanted to build terraces or terrace outlets and about how much work you wanted to do.

Allocations of money per farm will be made soon after the first of the year. If you want A.S.C. help with terracing then be sure to make your application at the County A.S.C. office between Dec. 1 and Dec. 31.

New D.H.I.A. Member

The ninth member has just joined the Pettis County Dairy Herd Improvement Association. He is Elmer Helmig and he lives a few miles northeast of Smithton and just in the edge of Cooper County. The Helmigs have a dairy herd of 15 cows.

New equipment ordered for the local D.H.I.A. has not yet arrived. However the supervisor, Chaney Housworth, has picked up all the other equipment at the Extension office and has taken it home to clean it up ready for use.

Soil Fertility Short Course

A Soil Fertility Short Course is being held at Columbia at the University on Dec. 7 and 8. It is primarily a dealers meeting and the first day will be spent discussing ways that dealers may provide.

There is a banquet that night and the second day will be spent more on information on fertilizers and their contents. It sounds like a good meeting and you folks might encourage your fertilizer dealers to attend.

When to Put Nitrate on Wheat

We frequently have the question when should you put nitrogen on wheat. We have usually answered the sooner the better because it might be bad weather and you would fail to get the job done at all.

Actually yields have been about as good when the nitrate was put on at seeding time or late in the fall as when put on early in the spring. I have some six year results where 30 pounds of nitrogen was put on at seeding time, in December and March.

The yield from that put on at seeding was 41 bushels, in December 41 bushels and March 43 bushels. The two bushel increase in March might have been caused from something else because when 60 pounds was put on at each time the March yield dropped back to 39½ bushels. The December yield for both applications was exactly the same while when 60 pounds was put on at seeding time we had a yield of 42½ bushels.

All these figures were with regard to ammonium nitrate and there were some slight individual variations with other nitrogen carrying materials.

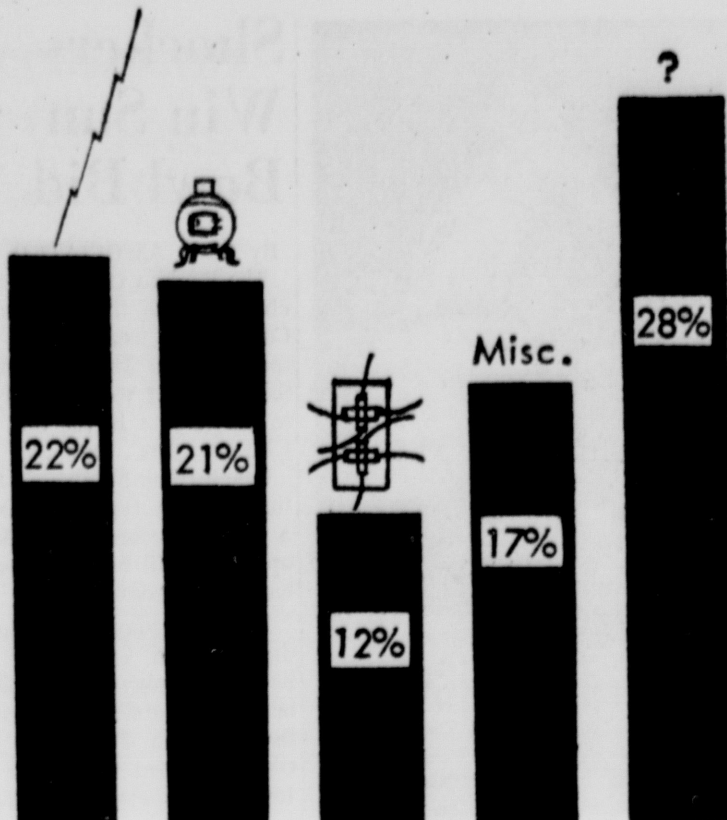

New Highways and the Farmer
Two new bulletins have recently come to the Extension office. They are "New Highways and the Farmer" and "Vaccination Program for Poultry."

This "Highways and the Farmer" bulletin is Folder 11 and is edited by Fred L. Mann who is in the Agricultural Law Department at the University.

Incidentally, the son-in-law of our own John Ryan, James McClarny, is taking his masters degree in Agricultural Law under Professor Mann.

Some sub-titles in this folder include "The Public Right to Take Private Property for Highway Purposes," "Condemnation for Highway Purposes Under Missouri Law," "Measure of Damages," "Valuation Considerations" and "Tax Considerations."

MAJOR CAUSES OF FIRE in Missouri during the first half of 1961 were lightning, heating equipment, and electrical wiring, as shown in graph. Miscellaneous causes accounted for 17 percent of the total while the cause of fire was undetermined in 28 percent of the cases. These figures were compiled from reports of farm mutual insurance companies of Missouri by C. E. Stevens, University of Missouri extension farm safety engineer.

Price Decline Seen

Another Profitable Year Enjoyed by Egg Producers

Egg producers had another profitable year. Market egg prices were relatively high during the fall months of 1961. Broiler hatching egg prices held up well throughout most of the year with a slump occurring during the last month of the record year.

Fifty-one commercial flocks (averaging 1185 birds per flock) had an income over feed cost of $3.00 per bird — 40 cents higher than the year before. They averaged 225 eggs per bird.

Farm flocks (those under 500 birds per flock) showed a higher return per bird than commercial flocks for the second consecutive year. There are possibly two explanations for this: (1) Many of the farm flocks produce broiler hatching eggs and prices have been relatively favorable during the past two years, (2) Owners of small flocks are selling more of their eggs directly to individual customers and local stores. Records were kept on 42 farm flocks (306 birds per flock) and they averaged $3.36 income over feed cost per bird. Egg production was an even 200 eggs per bird.

The 10 high producing flocks averaged 265 eggs per bird and returned a labor income of $2.87 per bird. Average flock size in this group was 1220 birds. Even the 10 lowest producing flocks showed a respectable income. These flocks (averaging 364 birds) produced 152 eggs and returned $1.58 labor income per bird.

Egg Outlook
Egg prices are expected to decline during the fall and winter months and are expected to be 5 to 10 cents lower for the 1961-62 production period than for the 1960-61 season. The price of Grade A Large eggs in St. Louis was 39-43 cents on Sept. 23, 1961. This is only one cent below the price of this grade and size one year earlier. However, the price of Grade A Medium on this date was seven cents below the year earlier.

The spread between the price of large and medium eggs is expected to become smaller as the price of the large eggs decline during the fall and early winter. The price of Grade A Large eggs at St. Louis is expected to fall below 35 cents by mid-winter and be near 30 cents during the spring months.

Egg supplies will be above year earlier levels during the first half of 1962. The percentage increase is expected to diminish as the year progresses. Hens and pullets of laying age on farms Jan. 1, 1962, will be one to two per cent above January 1, 1961.

Feed prices will be slightly higher through 1961-62 than for the preceding year, so with lower egg prices, producers will have lower returns than in the 1960-61 production period.

The volume of liquid and shell eggs in storage is the lowest for this time of year for any year since 1932. This low storage volume will moderate the effect of the increase in supply of eggs but will not prevent substantial decline in prices.

New Turkey Circular Full Of Good Tips

"Missouri Plan of Turkey Breeder Management" is the title of a new circular published by the University of Missouri Cooperative Extension Service. Authors are Harold Biellier and Walter Russell, of the University's poultry department. The circular was prepared especially for producers who plan to keep a breeder flock.

The authors say the goal of a flockowner should be to produce eggs which will hatch into quality poult. The future of the turkey industry in Missouri and the reputation of Missouri poult depend to a large degree upon breeders fulfilling this goal.

Part of the answer, the authors say, is to establish more uniform management practices in the state. By getting a few more eggs per breeder, better hatchability, stronger and healthier poult, breeders will be rewarded with greater profits from their flocks.

The circular tells how to obtain these results. Topics covered include selecting breeders, male-female ratio, facilities for breeders, how to use lights, care of broodies, artificial insemination, feeding, care of eggs, and disease prevention and control.

A copy can be obtained at county extension offices or by writing to the Mailing Room, Waters Hall, Columbia.

Mulch Strawberries After Killing Frost

Strawberries should usually be mulched about the last week of November or first week of December, say horticulturists at the University of Missouri. This job should be done some time after killing frosts so that plants have become fully dormant, but before temperatures go below 20 degrees.

Straw is the most suitable mulching material. Leaves are apt to pack too tightly and smother the plants. About two inches of straw, before settling, are enough. The mulch should be removed next spring when the first growth appears. Do not remove all the mulch—only enough to permit the plants to come through.

Cold Weather Kills Roots

Fall Plowing Best Johnson Grass Control

If you are one of the thousands of Missouri farmers who have the severity of winter and the cured this winter and land use in Johnson grass on cropland, you are concerned about its practical control. Especially, if your infested areas are on deep alluvial soil. This land is adapted to intensive cropping to corn and soybeans.

Both crops compete poorly with Johnson grass and it thrives in association with them. The cultivation for these crops causes Johnson grass to root deeply and grow rhizomes. Thus, the weed quickly becomes established and final eradication is difficult.

Missouri is on the northern edge of area where Johnson grass is adapted. So, fall plowing to expose the roots and rhizomes to winter cold is one good way to weaken stands. Where stands have been weakened by pasturing, mowing or chemical treatment will help kill out the weed. Fall plowing frequently results in practical control.

Plow as late as possible but ahead of severe cold weather. This usually means in late November in north Missouri and December in south Missouri.

Plow as shallow as possible to still turn up roots and rhizomes. If available, use a spring tooth harrow after plowing to pull Johnson grass roots and rhizomes up on top of the ground. Exposed in this way most of the plants will be killed. The final success of

Where the land goes to corn or soybeans in 1962, use cultural practices to control seedlings and spot spray surviving plants.

In case of poor results this winter, the land can be planted as usual. The practice seems like a good try if you can get the ground worked this winter before severe weather.

Ask at your county extension office for Bulletin 729, "You Can Control Johnson Grass."

3 Top Singles Positions See a Complete Change

New Bowler Moves Into Fifth Place

The singles division of the 35th annual Missouri State Women's Bowling Association tournament being held in Sedalia was attacked by the women this past weekend. The top three positions saw a complete change and a new bowler move into the fifth position. In the team events, a switch resulted in the leadership of the "A" division, while leaders in the "B" division, doubles, all events and individual game did not change.

A 123 average bowler from St. Louis, Jan Lebbing, shook the pins in the singles and jumped to the Number one spot with a 713. She had a three game series of 175-213-169 for a scratch series of 557, and with her handicap of 156 came through for the top winning score. There was little doubt that the series with the handicap was the "thrill of a lifetime" and many of the women bowler believe it may hold up for the next four weekends.

The top score for the 1960 singles champion was 710 which was chalked up by Dottie Baker of Raytown. Lebbing's pin total is three more than the 1960 champion.

Singles tops up to this past weekend was held by Dorothy Milliren, Kansas City, who had a 670 score, and this was also passed by two other out-state bowlers. Claim, AFL Jumps Gun On the Draft

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Indications were mighty strong today that the American Football League has pulled a similar stunt to 1960—jumped the gun on the draft. Only this time it violates an agreement with the American Football Coaches Association.

There could be a lot of trouble, especially from the NCAA, but apparently nothing can be done about it except talk.

Everybody apparently knew about it except Commissioner Joe Foss and his AFL office here—and Foss now has been apprised and has said he'll check into it.

Three newspapers reported that a secret draft had been held and such stars as Ernie Davis of Syracuse, Bob Ferguson of Ohio State, Lance Alworth of Arkansas, Roman Gabriel of North Carolina State and Jim Saxton of Texas were among the selectees.

Some anonymous club officials were quoted that the draft had been held and one of them, a fellow with San Diego, told Jerry Magee of the San Diego Union, "The commissioner knew nothing about this. It was run by the owners."

The club owners are supposed to have held six rounds of the draft by telephone several weeks before Commissioner Foss set the official date of the draft for Dec. 2—the day of final college games.

Foss, in announcing the draft, said he was complying with an NCAA request not to hold the player selection until the close of the college season.

The Dallas News first broke the secret draft. Then the Union chimed in and next came the Houston Post to confirm it.

Last year the AFL held part of its draft a month earlier than the National Football League.

The Dallas News said it got first wind of the secret draft from a Southwest Conference coach, who said he figured there had been one because the pros kept calling.

Foss said he didn't believe it had been done but he did admit that the AFL owners had been contacting college players they would like to draft, "just like the National Football League has been doing. But that doesn't mean we've held a draft or tried to sign anybody."

Another newcomer to the top ten was Donna Smalley, Kansas City with a 663 for seventh spot.

The switch in the "A" team event came on Saturday afternoon when the Dick Schartz, Ins., North Kansas City, hit a 2895 to move 100 pins above the original leaders of this tournament. Todd Kohlberg Flower Shop of St. Louis who had a 2795.

The Schartz score is 44 pins better than the 1960 tournament champions, Kutis Funeral Home, St. Louis, whose winning score was 2851.

The scores of two teams which bowled this past weekend moved them up in the honored 10. Du-Bowl, St. Louis with their 2757 took over fourth place; and Ripley Bowling, St. Louis, grabbed off seventh spot with their 2714.

In the "B" team competition two new teams moved in the top 10, Anheuser Busch Bud Juniors, St. Louis rolling a 2678 moved into fourth place, while Ragnops of Henrietta with a 2579 took over tenth spot.

Scores in the doubles were not threatened this past weekend.

Only one team came through with enough score to join the top ten and that was Betty Chapman and Dorothy Thornberry of Jefferson City who rolled a combined series of 1202 to move into a tie for ninth place with Ruth Cluck and Ruth Deatherage, of St. Joseph who also hold a 1202 score.

Flossie Argent, St. Louis, is still the Number One All-Events bowler with her 1697.

Sharon Shaw of Warrensburg and Mary Weinstein, St. Louis, share the individual game honors of 248 scratch.

Starting her second game of her double series, Sunday night, Mrs. Joan Dugan appeared on her way to a big score. She started the second game and rolled six straight strikes, only to miss the seventh frame. She ended that game with a 222. Her series on the doubles was 165-222-135 for 522 and handicap of 90 gave her a 612 series.

There were 585 women bowlers in Sedalia over the past weekend. Over 500 bowling women will attack the ten pins at the Hillcrest Lanes in team events and in the singles and doubles at Broadway Lanes this coming weekend.

Shockers Win Sun Bowl Bid

The Wichita University Shockers champions of the Missouri Valley Conference, were beaten by Dayton 23-12 in their season finale Saturday but were quickly named to participate in the Sun Bowl at El Paso, Tex., Dec. 30.

Coach Hank Foldberg's Shockers finished the regular season with a fine 8-2 record. Their Sun Bowl opponent will be Villanova, which had a 7-2 season.

Last Saturday was a miserable day for the Valley. All four of its football playing members were beaten by outsiders. Louisville defeated North Texas 20-0. Miami, Ohio, whipped Cincinnati 7-3 and Iowa State beat Tulsa 27-6.

Two games Saturday will complete the regular schedule. Cincinnati will be at home to Detroit and North Texas State will be at Texas Western.

Playing without injured ace tailback Dave Hopmann, Iowa State rolled up 299 yards rushing to make easy work of Tulsa.

Dayton, which had won only one game previously this season picked up 357 net yards rushing in beating Wichita.

Alex Zyskowski of Wichita completed 6 of 12 passes for 79 yards to bring his season total to 57 of 108 for 1,033 yards, 4 touchdowns and 3 conversions.

The other half of the Shockers one-two punch, Bill Stangorone, completed 2 of 3 passes for 15 yards and one touchdown. He is tied for the conference scoring lead with Bobby Smith of North Texas. Each has 42 points.

Giants Take First In East Division

By MIKE RATHET

Associated Press Sports Writer
Y. A. Tittle, New York's bald bomber, has passed the Giants into first place in the National Football League's Eastern Conference donnybrook, but he needed a record-breaking performance by Cleveland's Jimmy Brown to complete the job.

While Tittle was leading the Giants to a 42-21 thumping of Pittsburgh with a three-TD performance, Brown rushed for a one-game record of 242 yards and scored four touchdowns as the Browns blitzed Philadelphia 45-24 Sunday and knocked the Eagles out of a tie for the top spot.

Brown, league ground gaining champion all four years he's been in the NFL, eclipsed his own mark of 237 yards in a game in 1957 by averaging over seven yards a carry, and added 32 yards by catching three passes.

The loss was Philadelphia's second in succession the Giants administered a 38-21 beating last week—and dropped the defending champions into a second-place tie with the Browns, one game back of the Giants, New York is 8-2, Cleveland and Philadelphia 7-3.

The Green Bay Packers, playing for the first time without scoring king Paul Hornung, maintained their 1½ game edge in the Western Conference race by whipping Los Angeles 35-17 for an 8-2 record with four games to play.

The Detroit Lions, runners-up in the West at 6-3-1, rolled to a 37-10 victory over Minnesota while San Francisco put a damper on Chicago's hopes with a 41-31 triumph over the Bears. Baltimore blanked St. Louis 16-0 and Washington ended its losing streak by tying Dallas 28-28.

Tittle, veteran of 14 pro campaigns, completed 19 of 28 passes for 314 yards and made it 15 TD pitches for the season with a nine-yard flip to Joe Walton, a 38-yarder to Alex Webster and a 20-yarder to Kyle Rote. Rote also pulled in a 10-yard touchdown toss from halfback Bob Gaiters while Webster picked up another score on a 32-yard jump.

The Giants, winning their eighth in nine games, went ahead to stay on Gaiters' three-yard burst in the second period after a 58-yard Tittle to Rote pass had set it up. Buddy Dial scored twice for the Steelers (4-6) on a 15-yard pass from Rudy Bukich and a three-yarder from Bobby Layne, back in action after five weeks.

Brown scored his TDs on runs of 2, 4, 1 and 8 yards while Bobby Mitchell, on a weekend pass from the Army, scored the other touchdowns on a 28-yard pass from Milt Plum and a 91-yard kickoff return. Lou Groza added a field goal to the Browns' output and with six conversions brought his NFL career point total to 813, 12 short of the record held by Green Bay's Don Hutson.

Sonny Jurgensen connected with Tommy McDonald on an eighty-yard TD toss and wound up the scoring with a 39-yard toss to Tim Brown.

Trailing 7-0, the Packers exploded for 28 points against the Rams (3-7) in the second quarter when Bart Starr unlimbered his pitching arm. Jim Taylor tied it on a one-yard plunge, then Starr hit Max McGee with 20 and 13-yard TD tosses and sent a 12-yarder to Boyd Dowler. Jon Arnett had sent Los Angeles into the early lead on a 14-yard run.

Earl Morrill took over for starting quarterback Jim Ninowski with the Vikings (2-8) leading 10-0 and led the Lions from behind with a pair of payoff passes to Terry Barr and a 37-yarder to Gail Cogdill. Jerry Reichow scored the Minnesota TD on a 23-yard pitch from Fran Tarkenton. John Brodie, passing from a straight T as the 49ers (5-4-1) virtually abandoned the shotgun offense, hit Monte Stickles with a 44-yard touchdown pass and threw 71 and 46-yarders to rookie Aaron Thomas to beat the Bears (5-5).

Billy Wade threw three TD passes for the Bears, who lost their third in a row.

Steve Myhra kicked three field goals for the Colts (5-5) after the Johnny Unitas to Lenny Moore combination had connected for a 17-yard scoring pass and the only touchdown against the Cards (4-6), who were unable to penetrate beyond the Baltimore 42.

Dick Bielski took a three-yard strike from Eddie LeBaron to end an 82-yard march with two minutes left that gave the Cowboys (4-5-1) a tie with the Redskins. It was Washington's 20th straight game without a win, but snapped a 17-game losing streak for an 0-9-1 record.

Pappy Guy Active On Pro Grid

By The Associated Press

For a pappy guy who was supposed to be washed up a month ago, George Blanda is mighty active in professional football.

The 33-year-old quarterback, veteran of a dozen years in pro ranks, showed "em Sunday that there's no substitute for experience—he threw seven touchdown passes in guiding Houston to its fifth straight victory in the American Football League.

The Oilers, with Blanda either passing for or kicking all the points—has been seven extra points—bashed New York 49-13 to stay on top of the Eastern Division by a half-game.

The way the Oilers are moving, they look like a pretty good bet to administer the first defeat of the season to San Diego, already champion of the Western Division. The two met Dec. 3 in what could be a preview of the playoff. However, the Oilers are not thinking about San Diego right now—they play Denver at Houston next Sunday.

San Diego sailed over Dallas 24-14 Sunday for its eleventh straight league victory. But beating Dallas is no particular accomplishment—the Texans have lost six straight.

The only other game of importance last week was Boston's 20-17 victory over Oakland. The Patriots stayed tightly in the race for the Eastern Division championship. They don't play Houston again this season but they do play San Diego, which makes things equal. Boston and Houston each can lose to San Diego and it won't affect their status in the Eastern Division.

Buffalo beat Denver 23-10 in a so-called game. Neither team is going anywhere right now and Denver obviously will never get there even if it made a big effort. Denver is worse off than Dallas and Dallas is 7½ games behind San Diego with only four to play. San Diego has just three to go.

Buffalo will be at New York in a Thanksgiving Day game while Oakland will be at Dallas Sunday. Anything but a feeling of fellowship was prevalent in the Houston-New York game. There were more fights than Madison Square Garden could afford, with three players being put out for their fistfights. Both benches were emptied at one stage.

There were 193 yards in penalties assessed, mostly because of the fighting. This tied a league record but wasn't as important as Blanda's seven touchdown throws, which broke his own record of four set last year.

Speculation On Orange Bowl Bids

By ED CORRIGAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

While Alabama, the king of college football, debates which bowl offer to accept, a full-scale rumpus broke out today, triggered by speculation that the University of Colorado was about to be snubbed by the Orange Bowl.

Alabama, one of the two remaining major unbeaten powers since the stunning 6-0 defeat of Texas by Texas Christian Saturday, apparently has its choice of the Rose Bowl or Cotton Bowl.

Bama Coach Bear Bryant confirmed his club had been approached to play in the Rose Bowl, indicating the tradition of plucking a Big Ten team for the Pasadena classic is being scrapped.

The Crimson Tide (9-0) can't accept anything until after its final game against Auburn Dec. 2, because of Southeastern Conference regulations. Alabama, No. 2 in the current Associated Press poll, crushed Georgia Tech 10-0 last Saturday.

Meanwhile, angry rumblings came from the University of Colorado after reports that the Orange Bowl favored Kansas. The Big Eight sends the visiting team to the Orange Bowl, but it does not have to select the champion.

Colorado (8-1) already has clinched at least a tie for the league title, but the Buffalos, according to some members of the Orange Bowl committee, have been unimpressive in their last two starts. Kansas, beaten only by Colorado in the league, has won six straight with an explosive offense.

"The contract and the conference should be investigated if we are bypassed," thundered Colorado Coach Sonny Grandelius. "I don't care what anyone says, we're the conference champions and we're entitled to play in the Orange Bowl."

Kansas, besides losing to Colorado in the Big Eight, dropped a non-league game to Texas Christian and was tied by Wyoming early in the season.

"If the Big Eight is going to let the Orange Bowl dictate to them, then it's about time somebody investigate the conference and the contract," said Grandelius. "What's the sense of playing for a conference title if it doesn't have any meaning? We might as well forget about the conference and start playing exclusively for a bowl invitation."

With the downfall of Texas there was no team capable of arguing with Alabama for the top spot in the nation. Rutgers (8-0), which already has spurned bowl invitations, is the only other undefeated-untied major team. The Scarlet smothered Colgate 26-6 Saturday.

So with the regular season closing next Saturday, the bowl promoters still are in a mad scramble.

Here is the current rundown: ROSE—Waiting for an answer from Alabama. Assuming the Crimson Tide whips Auburn, Bryant probably will jump at the

In Two Games

May Settle Grid Matter Saturday

By SKIPPER PATRICK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Such matters as who will represent the Big Eight in the Orange Bowl and who will win the league football championship will be settled in two different stadiums Saturday.

Word from the Orange Bowl has it that the Kansas Jayhawks will get the New Year's Day bid if they knock off Missouri's crippled Tigers in Lawrence, Kan.

At Boulder, Colo., the Colorado Buffaloes are expected to clinch

California trip. This sidetracks the two Big Ten hopefuls, Minnesota (7-1) and Ohio State (7-0-1). The UCLA-Southern California game Saturday will decide the host school.

If Alabama accepts, it will rule the heavy favorite. Neither UCLA nor Southern Cal have been spectacular this season. Both lost last Saturday. Washington dropped UCLA 17-13, and Pitt edged Southern Cal 10-9.

ORANGE — The visiting team will be Colorado or Kansas. Louisiana State, 14-6 winner over Mississippi State, already has dissociated itself with the Sugar Bowl, so probably will wind up in the Orange.

COTTON—The sudden downfall of Texas, which had been riding pell-mell toward the national championship, left the Longhorns tied for the Southwest Conference lead with Arkansas. If Texas defeats Texas A&M Thanksgiving Day and Arkansas gets past Texas Tech next Saturday, the two teams will wind up tied for the league crown. Texas will get the Cotton Bowl spot on the basis of a victory over Arkansas.

Mississippi (8-1) is the most likely choice to provide the opposition. The Rebels claim they have made no commitments.

SUGAR—With Alabama looking westward and Louisiana State not interested, the Sugar Bowl is in a tough spot. Georgia Tech, although beaten the last two weeks, appears to be the best of the lot for the host spot.

Arkansas, pushed out of the Cotton Bowl, probably will go to New Orleans to provide the opposition. GATOR — Miami probably will be the home team assuming the Hurricanes beat Northwestern and Florida in their final two games. Maryland and Duke of the Atlantic Coast Conference both would like a bid.

NAIA Arranging For Grid Playoff

KANSAS CITY (AP)—The National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics hopes to complete arrangements today for its football playoffs, a spokesman said. Pittsburg State already has been designated as host team for one of the two semi-final playoff games.

the undisputed league championship by beating the Iowa State Cyclones. And there is grumbling from Boulder. The Buffs don't like the idea that Orange Bowl officials bypass them in favor of Kansas.

Kansas, now the team the experts said last summer the Jayhawks would be, won their sixth straight game Saturday in smashing California 53-7. Halfback Curtis McClinton crashed for four touchdowns.

The Jayhawks, since losing one pointer to Texas Christian and Colorado and playing a tie with Wyoming, have beaten Iowa State, Oklahoma, Oklahoma States, Nebraska, Kansas State and California in impressive fashion.

Colorado's bid to rebound from its only loss — to Utah — was hampered by the rain and mud as the Buffaloes beat Nebraska 7-0 Saturday. The Buffaloe defense held Nebraska without a first down and with no yards gained rushing.

Missouri, which had escaped major injuries the past three seasons, lost four regulars in its 27-9 victory over Kansas State.

Conrad Hitchler, right end, suffered a fractured left leg. Right end Don Wainwright and quarterback Ron Taylor were carried off the field with ankle injuries and halfback Norm Beal was hospitalized with bruised ribs.

Missouri Coach Dan Devine said it would "be a miracle" if Wainwright, Taylor or Beal made Saturday's traveling squad. Completing Saturday's slate will be Oklahoma and Nebraska at Lincoln, Neb., and Kansas State and Oklahoma State at Stillwater, Oklahoma.

Two games remain after this week. A week from Saturday Oklahoma and Oklahoma State will play in Norman and Colorado will meet the Air Force in Boulder.

The Big Eight had a big Saturday against outsiders as Oklahoma beat Army 14-8 with halfback Mike McClellan going 75 yards for the first touchdown; Iowa State whipped Tulsa 27-6 and Oklahoma State beat Houston 28-24.

BIG EIGHT LITTLE BITS: McClinton would have broken the scoring record for a Kansas player had it not been for a penalty nullifying a touchdown pass. The KU record of 29 points was set by Charlie Black in the early 1920s. Guard Elvin Basham and center Kent Staab each got into the ball carrying act. Basham carried the ball twice for 4 yards. Staab once for 7. Said Basham, a great defensive player: "carrying the ball is a pud, it's too easy."

John Hadl completed 7 of 9 passes for 81 yards. McClinton made 97 yards on 16 carries. Said KU coach Jack Mitchell: "If we beat Missouri Saturday it's my fault that we won't go to the Orange Bowl. We were ahead of Colorado, 19-0, with 13 minutes to go and I played everyone on the traveling squad. They got one quick touch-

Record Number Out To See Masterpiece

NEW YORK (AP)—The world's most expensive painting gave the Metropolitan Museum of Art its highest attendance ever Sunday.

The Metropolitan last week bought Rembrandt's "Aristotle Contemplating the Bust of Homer" for $2,300,000.

Saturday and Sunday some 82,600 visited the museum—almost double the previous record of 42,000 set on Washington's Birthday last year.

Producing Ford Middle Models In Kansas City

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Production of the Ford Motor Company's two new "in-between cars" began today at the Kansas City assembly plant.

The first off the line was a 1962 Mercury Meteor, which is 9 inches longer than the Comet and nearly a foot shorter than the Monterey.

It was followed by the 1962 Fairlane, which is 16 1/2 inches longer than the Falcon and a foot shorter than the Galaxie.

Facilities at the plant previously had been devoted to production of the company's smaller compacts, the Falcon and Mercury Comet.

Tjark F. Riddle, plant manager, said production schedules have not been announced.
